To Whom It May Concern:

As the Superintendent of Dayton Public Schools, I am very particular with the guidelines regarding with whom our system, students, administrators and staff form partnerships and collaborations regarding involvement with Dayton Public Schools. The well-being and education of our student population is always first and foremost in our endeavors to strive for excellence in the Dayton Public School District.

Over the past five years, I have observed the efforts of Home Based Arts USA (HBA) and their History At Home Publishing initiatives to create and develop innovative educational materials for our students. I have seen their dedication and ever evolving effort to provide a level of quality material that meets or exceeds State of Ohio standards for social studies, citizenship, and community awareness.

HBA has my highest regard. I highly recommend their History At Home Learning Activity Books and look forward to the development of the curriculum and teacher guides through the combined efforts of Home Based Arts USA and Dayton Public School educators. We also look forward to continuing and expanding this relationship now and in the future.

We encourage the involvement of businesses, organizations, and individuals in our area to become involved with Home Based Arts, Dayton Public Schools, and the History At Home component of this organization in whatever way and with whatever resources might be available.

Sincerely yours,

Percy A. Mack, Ph.D.
